

About us

Our name – Fritz Althoff GmbH & Co. KG – stands for more than technically high-grade products and services. Our company in East Westphalia of Germany does not only have familiar traditional roots, but it still gives a familiar atmosphere. For generations during our daily work we have been thinking and acting according to the historical values of an honourable merchant and precise and proper mechanic.

Cosmopolitan and liberal

We stand up for liberty, social security and protection of human dignity. We take respect and cross-cultural competence for granted.

Bet true to one's word, strike hands in pledge

We allow and claim mercantile confidence and fair negotiations and we dissociate ourselves from greed, manipulation and corruption.

Principle of utmost good faith

We are considerate of entitled concerns of others and we commit ourselves to honest and allegiant behaviour in course of business.

Mercantile judgement

We own consolidated commercial knowledge to carry on our business successfully. We continue developing our professional and social skills all time.

Example in acting

Even in hard situations we let ourselves be guided by our values. These are decency, honesty, reliability, thriftiness, farsightedness, diligence, justice, sincerity and confidentiality.

Creation of conditions to decent actions

We adhere to the unwritten rules of integrity within the scope of laws. In our organization we act upon our values being lived and we pass these values to further generations. We create our organizational structure according to our values.

Take-over of responsibility for fellow humans

We care for our workers, business partners, customers and suppliers.

Responsibility for economy and society

For us the economic and social order is the necessary framework for our acting, we respect the equality of opportunity and we campaign for justice and prosperity. Our individual benefit is in accordance with the achievement for organization and community. That is represented by our social commitment.

Long-term and sustainable company success

We reflect the consequences of our acting with regard to our company and our environment and from an inner conviction we act consequently authentically to create sustainable solutions for present and future generations.

We take for granted to deliver products of highest quality to our partners and to care for common value added and benefit by use and interplay of all.

Our management system combines the fields of health management, quality management, safety management and environmental management, because our workers, products and processes are close to our heart. We admit to Germany as a location for business with its excellent skilled workers, its outstanding engineering and various infrastructure. Here we prefer to invest in our future.

We want the common success – therefore we fight and work.
